

RASCAL'S COUSIN IN THE WILD

Did you know? Raccoons in the wild live in North and South America. The Native American word for Raccoon is "Arakun" and means "One who scratches with its paws." Raccoons have sensitive front paws and like to stick their paws in water to feel and dunk their food. Raccoons eat almost anything, but seem to prefer aquatic life such as frogs, fish, and crayfish. How can you help make the world a better place for raccoons?

Zoo Fun Fact:

The Los Angeles Zoo recycles paper, cardboard, beverage containers, animal waste, green waste, wood, metal, and many more items.
